Engineering Survey Reveals City of Grayling Needs Over Half Million Dollars Worth Improvements

A preliminary engineering study done on the City of Grayling by the R. S. Scott Engineering Co., Inc., of Alpena reveals that over a half million dollars of improvements are needed now. They include storm and sanitary sewers, water main extensions, street hardtop coating and a new city building.

A complete study of all needed facilities has been presented to the Council of the City of Grayling by the firm and R. S. Scott of the engineering company spoke Monday evening at Kiwanis and explained the proposed program.

No concrete plans have as yet been formed by the Council on a start on the program. It has been noted, however, that a beginning might be made next spring with the program to cover a long number of years to completion. R. S. Scott Engineering Co., Inc. is expected to make more detailed studies to augment the preliminary draft submitted to the Council. The City will also institute studies of the various phases of the proposed program within the next few weeks.

The preliminary study recommended the expending of $1,270,000 for storm sewers, $69,000 for sanitary sewers, $30,000 for water main extensions, $262,000 for soil cement treatment of city streets and $87,837 for a new municipal service building.

The Scott firm's preliminary study suggests storm sewer work on Peninsula, Maple, Michigan, Lake, Norway, Spruce, Chestnut, Smith, Vine, Park, Ottawa, Ingham, Date, R. R. Reserve, Fulton, Mikado, Plumb, Brink, Madison, Erie, and Ogema streets.

Sanitary sewer work would be done on Lake, Erie, Rose, Clyde and Galen streets. Water line extension would be made on Peninsula, Michigan, Ingham, Fulton, Vine, Clyde, Erie and Ogema streets.

Street surface improvements would cover every street in the city limits. As the Scott report points out "after installation of the sanitary and storm sewer facilities, the streets of the city will need resurfacing."

The proposed new Municipal Service Building would be located at the corner of Charles and U.S. 27, attaching to the city garage. This would bring the city office, light plant and garage all in one location with the city pumping station and sewage treatment plant in close proximity.

The proposed building would be of brick veneer over concrete block. A single story with a partial basement, the building would contain Fire and Police Departments, Municipal offices and a room for Grayling Township board meetings. The abandonment of the present City and Township Buildings on Ottawa street would give needed expansion room for the Grayling Schools.

The new building would be approximately 40 by 75 feet and would contain 5,272 square feet of available space. The new site would have excellent access to U.S. 27 and Maple street, both major fire routes and well maintained. There would be a much better parking area for people on business to the City office with no congestion due to school activities, particularly as to quick action by the Fire Department.

As further studies are made by both the engineering firm and the City of Grayling in all probability a program of action towards the completion of such a plan will evolve.

Plan Lake Area Meet For Fire Protection

A meeting has been set for next Tuesday evening, September 16th at 7:30 p. m. at the Weaver Marine Sales and Service building for home owners of that section of Lake Margrethe.

The meeting is for discussion on possible steps that might be taken for more adequate fire protection for the area which in turn should result in lower fire insurance rates, it was said.

Those owning property in the area from the Camp Grayling line north along the lake to the Don Weaver residence are urged to attend. This includes home owners along M-93 and beyond as well as the lake front owners.

Grayling Vikings To Harrison Friday Night For Practice Gridiron Clash

The 1958 version of the Grayling High and squad will get a test under fire this Friday night when their new coach, Don Ferguson, takes them to his old home town, Harrison, to meet the Hornets in a practice game. The session will also be used to point out various offensive and defensive formations to interested spectators as well as the various rules of the game.

Viking mentor Ferguson has thirty-five hopefuls out for this year's team led by a corps of fifteen lettermen. The nucleus of seasoned gridirers are led by Captain Curtis Haas, one of last year's outstanding linemen. Other letter winners along the line who seemed assured of a position are Tom Galvani and Larry LaGrow at tackle, Mike Goodrich and Ted Morning at guards and Jan Thayer at end. Backfield letter winners returning are Roger Hatfield, Jim Kessler, Mike Lovely, Roy Love, Bill Lucksted, Tim Perry, Mike Roberts and Dave Wyman.

Steve Sink, a transfer from Wisconsin, will get to see lots of action at quarterback, Bill Weaver at center and Don Leslie at end. Others out who may see action are: Bill Stephan, Tony Maurer, George Gierich, Tom Brooks, Bill Brooks, Richard MacLeod, LeRoy Wales, Bill Valida, Ted Morning, Floyd Milliken, Joe Robertson and Ward Baker.

Five freshmen are out for the team and depending upon their proficiency as practice continues might get to see some action. They are Sherman Neal, Mark Sheehy, Martin Tinker, Ted Carlson and Norman Sorenson.

Coach Ferguson was quite confident of this year's team chances during the coming season. The squad has been working very hard and expects to go into some night work sessions under the lights as the conditioning drills are tapered off to get down to heavy practice on fundamentals and some contact work.

Carlson, West and Russell will play Wednesday for Gilets. Working for a two week hunting trip in antelope and mule deer is the game.

Experts Prepare State Government For Reorganization Challenge

EXPERTS IN HALF A DOZEN different fields are preparing state government for its biggest reorganization challenge in years. Just how far Gov. Williams wants to exert his new and historic power or, indeed, whether he can at all, is still in doubt.

The history of the executive reorganization plan is riddled with paradoxes and contradictions; its future with restrictions and perils. It works this way:

Under the law passed last winter by the legislature, surprising everybody, the governor can propose reorganization plans for administrative agencies.

He must present them to the legislature within 30 days after the start of its next session. If the legislature or either house fails to veto them within another 60 days, they become law.

Williams promised at the outset, observers noted, that he would ask for help in planning his proposals from Republicans, Democrats, educators and anyone else with power or skill.

He appointed a special committee headed by Circuit Judge J. Adams of Pontiac. Other members are from Williams' present or former staff, educators friendly to his administration or steadfastly non-partisan.

The uncertainty whether to start with a major change or go slowly has already been eliminated.

The Adams group first recommended that proposals be studied to:

Place all tax collections in one agency.
Merge or consolidate health functions.
Create an overall retirement board.
Consolidate agricultural activities.

Let the department of administration write checks to pay state bills—rather than the auditor general.

All of these, in one form or another, have been before the legislature at least once, and all have been defeated.

Republicans feel it is a trifle presumptuous to bring them up again as Williams' ideas after members of their own party failed to support them in previous legislative sessions.

The commission said it would have the recommendation ready for Williams to offer to the legislature when it convenes for the 1959 session in January.

This, of course, is based on the certainty in Democratic minds that Williams will still be governor.

If he is defeated in his campaign for a sixth consecutive term, the planning job will have to be done all over again because it is rare that a Republican takes Democratic advice or research—regardless of the facts on which it is based.

PRESSURE FOR MAJOR changes in administrative functions is being generated by the Senate Committee on Waste.

The committee, headed by Senator L. Harvey Lodge (R-Drayton Plains), is not a part of the general scheme of reorganization, but already has started the ball rolling for changes.

He started with the State Police, demanding to know the cost per mile for patrols and other financial records upon which appropriations are, and might be, based.

Whether or not any changes are made on the surface, the betting is that the State Police will clamp an iron hand over any and all spending.

The committee's next project was the mental health department, which already was the subject of another investigation by a House committee.

All these checkups gave new impetus to the age-old proposal to merge all health agencies.

The use of state cars is the committee's latest point of inquiry.

Lodge asked Controller James W. Miller to provide the committee information on the number of state cars, their operating costs, gas and oil prices, and lists of drivers.

For years, there have arisen controversies over the use of state cars on week ends, during the evenings from citizens seeing them parked at theaters, restaurants and other places of amusement. Investigations have come and gone, but there have been few changes in the system.

Lodge plans a meeting for a public hearing in late August or early September. In the meantime, he asked citizens to send him the license numbers of state-owned cars they believed being improperly used.

The address is "The Senate, Capitol Building, Lansing."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

She's Got
Dad's "Number"

Dad Fowler and his Mrs. are about to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary—so I asked them if there's any "secret" to this kind of wedded bliss.

"Oh we've had our arguments," said Dad, "but for fifty years I made it a point to count to fourteen before any argument could turn into a real quarrel. Fourteen—because that's exactly the amount of money I had the day we were married."

"From now on," smiled Mrs. Fowler, "you better count to twelve. The two dollars for the marriage license was mine."

From where I sit, we all need some kind of formula for getting along with each other. The best one I know is "tolerance"—the business of live and let live. It has to do with little things, too, like your preference for tea and milk for beer. Let's count to ten, twelve or fourteen—and never let our differences turn into quarrels.

She's Got
Dad's "Number"

Dad Fowler and his Mrs. are about to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary—so I asked them if there's any "secret" to this kind of wedded bliss.

"Oh we've had our arguments," said Dad, "but for fifty years I made it a point to count to fourteen before any argument could turn into a real quarrel. Fourteen—because that's exactly the amount of money I had the day we were married."

"From now on," smiled Mrs. Fowler, "you better count to twelve. The two dollars for the marriage license was mine."

From where I sit, we all need some kind of formula for getting along with each other. The best one I know is "tolerance"—the business of live and let live. It has to do with little things, too, like your preference for tea and milk for beer. Let's count to ten, twelve or fourteen—and never let our differences turn into quarrels.

Unions And Politics

As everyone knows, organized labor is deeply involved in political activity. The AFL-CIO supports an aggressive Committee on Political Education (COPE). Continuous and strenuous efforts are made to encourage union members to register and vote. There is a widespread belief that these and other such efforts have paid off handsomely by electing to office candidates who support labor's programs.

Yet, it seems, there is another side to this coin. It is dealt with by Dick Bruner in the lead article of the August issue of Harper's Magazine. Mr. Bruner, who was formerly a union staff man, is convinced that the unions' political work has flopped, with the single exception of that carried on by the United Auto Workers. His solution to this state of affairs is told in his title: "Labor Should Get Out Of Politics."

Mr. Bruner points out that less than 40 per cent of union members are registered to vote and that in some locals the figure is as low as 20 per cent. In heavily industrialized and organized Ohio, union leaders went all out against Senators Lausche and Bricker — yet both were elected. In another important industrial state, Indiana, the unions failed in their fight against a right-to-work law.

All in all, as Mr. Bruner sees it, "The unions' waning political power reflects a basic loss of strength and prestige of organized labor among working people." He has various reasons for this shortage of "political vitality" — a lack of ideas of labor's own; a weakness in political organizing ability; a cynicism toward the rank and file on the part of leaders. Also he writes, "Once considered a haven for bright young intellectuals seeking a mass base, the trade unions have evolved into a shelter for bureaucrats. The innocent citizen who thinks that unions can be a rallying point for the common good, approaches them only to find a mare's nest of intrigues and conflicting vested interests... Labor's contribution to whatever debate exists on civil rights, foreign policy, civil liberties, and taxes usually consists of mouthy speeches originated by some other group. Mountains of literature are printed and sent out to collect dust on tables in the backs of union halls."

Mr. Bruner goes on in this vein at some length. And his disillusion with labor-in-politics obtains its significance from his background in union work, and from the fact that he obviously sympathizes with most of the union goals. Finally, he proposes a three point "repair job" that he believes the unions sorely need. First, they should temporarily halt their recruiting activities — Union recruitment has reached the saturation level

THE LAST ROUND-UP

...and "...attempts to open new frontiers — such as the white collar workers — merely frustrate energies which could be better spent reflecting on the present plight of unions, if nothing else." Second, he thinks the unions should withdraw from "the entangling alliances of partisan politics" — which would mean "no collection of COPE dollars; and no compromises with politicians." This done, he adds, the unions should operate as a "non-partisan pressure group." Third, "the direction that unions should take on any issue should be left wide open." In other words, real debate should be encouraged on the part of both the union staffs and the rank-and-file.

It will be interesting to see what response this unusual approach gets from the union chieftains and political directors.

WHEREAS, the GRAYLING

WHAT DOES A MAN think of as he completes a term in the United States Senate and prepares to seek his fellow citizens' support for re-election?

He looks back over six years of committee meetings, debates, handshakes, crises, elation and disappointment. He tries to extract from that complex history the kernel of his usefulness to the men and women of his State. To assess his work in better perspective, he has to get out of the shadow of the Capitol dome, back into the well-remembered sights and sounds of home. Three days after adjournment, sitting on my porch with its familiar view of Mullet Lake in Cheboygan, I tried to mentally sort out what I consider my most important Senate accomplishments:

Certainly I am proud to have been an original sponsor of the St.
Lawrence Seaway and connecting channels laws. I have great hopes also that my bill to permit new types of deepwater shipbuilding at Great Lakes ports, passed more than a year ago, will bring hefty new contracts and jobs into Michigan.

The cause of small business, always dear to my heart, received a big boost when President Eisenhower signed into law a measure of co-sponsorship, making the Small Business Administration permanent and expanding lending operations.

Back before the opening of the 85th Congress, our long grind on what was to become the civil rights law began. As a sponsor, I look forward to the day discriminatory practices which have worked a hardship on many citizens and damaged America in the eyes of the world will be a thing of the past.

The United States has gained mightily in human and financial terms under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1954 which I had a prime role in framing. Under this humane concept, thousands of handicapped, needy and dependent persons are assisted toward rehabilitation, new jobs, and an active role in the community.

Extension of unemployment compensation benefits, a measure on which I worked closely with the Secretary of Labor, is now in force. Thousands of Michigan workers, and other thousands across the United States, are receiving additional weekly checks to tide them over a period of serious layoffs.

I was able to obtain tax relief for school teachers. I sponsored expanded social security benefits which became law in the 84th Congress and supported the increase passed by the 85th Congress. I was the first in 1953 to introduce legislation to raise the minimum wage to $1.00 and am now working toward a $1.25 minimum.

Under the Potter amendment to the immigration laws, which lifted quotas on alien orphans, childless American couples can now adopt children orphaned by war or poverty.

In the autumn of 1956, during the bloody uprising in Hungary, I was instrumental in bringing two of the first plane loads of refugees from the revolution to safety and security offered by the great-hearted Hungarian community of Michigan.

The "Mark America" program which I originated several years ago is now in force. It is increasing good will for the United States throughout the world by prominent markings showing origin of American exports and aid shipments.

Through membership on the Appropriation Committee, I have been able to provide a real stimulus for Michigan's maritime economy by obtaining generous sums to develop the State's rivers and harbors. Also, the research funds which at last give promise of conquering the sea lamprey menace in the Great Lakes, were appropriated through my efforts on the Climates.

Michigan's onion farmers will benefit from the Potter bill to outlaw speculation in onion futures. Michigan's wheat farmers will benefit from my victory over the Agriculture Department when it tried last year to downgrade Michigan wheat.

Our State's most serious problem is unemployment. To develop jobs, I have worked continuously to bring contracts into the State.
I have personally obtained substantial awards for small businesses which have opened up hundreds of jobs. I have conferred regularly with Pentagon officials and there is hardly a major Defense contract award to Michigan for missiles, trucks, tanks or other hardware on which I have not participated at some stage.

In years to come I am hopeful that the depressed areas bill, a long-range program which I sponsored and which now lies on the President's desk for signature, will ease Michigan's chronic unemployment situation. In the meantime, of course, more immediate measures are needed.

A sigh of relief went up from Lake States Senators at four o'clock on the morning of Sunday, August 24th. After an all-night battle, we killed the division proposal which would have soured off tons of precious Lake Michigan water into the Illinois Waterway. It was well worth the weeks of effort and loss of sleep.

Discharged servicemen will be able to collect unemployment benefits during their readjustment to civilian life, under my bill. Also, through Potter legislation, the Military Order of the Purple Heart and the Veterans of World War I will obtain Congressional charters.

Success, however, did not crown my efforts for repeal of the unfair automobile excise tax. Nor was I able to win through on establishment of a standing Senate Committee on Veterans Affairs. I pledge continued effort on both measures.

I should like to mention also several matters of long-range interest of the United States. I voted for reorganization of the Defense Department, for establishment of a space agency and an aviation safety agency, for Alaskan statehood, for the science education program, all offering solutions to the great challenges of our time.
I am confident that I voted in the public interest.

These are only a few of the highlights which passed through my mind as I sat on the porch in Cheboygan. I list them here, not in a spirit of boastfulness, but as a brief accounting of six years in which I have been privileged to serve a great State.

Now I look forward to renewing old friendships in Michigan, to making new friends, to listening, learning, and earning the support of our citizens for re-election to the United States Senate.

Best Wishes, Charles E. Potter
United States Senator

Only Sunoco fits all cars!

New miracle pump Custom Blends 6 great fuels to fit any car exactly!

No 2 or 3 octane grades can possibly match Sunoco's 6 great Custom-Blends!
6 different prices—scaled down, grade by grade—to save you up to 4¢ a gallon!

Note buried tanks. From these, pump draws (a) premium quality Blue Sunoco 200, and (b) Sunoco Octane Concentrate. These are precisely blended by the pump to the exact blend number ordered. Approved by various government authorities.

Now you can enjoy the utmost in premium gasoline performance—without wasting your money on octane your car can't use.

For Sunoco's new Custom-Blending pump delivers the "in-between" octane grades never available before. (At "in-between" prices, too!)

Now, your Sunoco Dealer offers you twice, or even three times the octane selection you can get from anybody else...from premium quality Blue Sunoco 200 at "regular" price, to Blend 260, the highest octane gas sold anywhere! Each blend has all the finest performance qualities possible today.

First tankful, get the blend number specifically recommended for your particular make and model car. Test-drive it. Next time you fill up try dropping down to the next lower blend — at the next lower price!

So you go with Sunoco Custom-Blending — and so you save!

More! For "Regular" buyers, too! You can get higher octane at "regular" price with Blend 200...it's proved higher octane for most "regular" users. It's higher in quality — highest in value!

The only thrifty way to buy premiums today!
